BRITISH COLUMBIA SEES LIQUOR BUT NO DRUNKS

You May Buy Practically All You Want But
You Mayn't Quaff in Public.

By WILLIAM SLAVEN MURPHY.
VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 19.—The entire North American continent, from the Mexican border to the Arctic Ocean, is checked with a perplexing series of experiments in liquor control, ranging from absolute prohibition in the United States to the nearly wide open policy of Quebec.

From Quebec with its plenitude of wine and beer bars and its liquor commission stores, where hard liquor may be purchased by the bottle for consumption at home, one travels west through Canada, into and across bone-dry Ontario, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Then into Alberta, where one may have it shipped in from outside for one's own use in the house. Then, up into the Rockies, over the Great Divide and down the big hill into the alcohol oases of the Pacific—British Columbia.

Each His Own Barkeeper.
In British Columbia every man is, so to speak, his own barkeeper. Each person who wishes to buy liquor must get a personal license. You buy these licenses from the government liquor houses, of which there are three in the city of Vancouver and fifty scattered throughout the province. For a resident of the province a license good for a year costs $5. A license good for one purchase is 50 cents. For the non-resident, however, a license for a single purchase is $5. It is odd, considering the extent of the tourist traffic here, how few who apply for licenses admit being alien.

The license entitles the holder to purchase a quart of hard liquor or one case of beer during any one day. Any man in British Columbia with the price to pay can be sure of not being interfered with by anything but his conscience when he starts in to do his day's drinking.

But Stay Sober, Bo!
But the penalty for drunkenness is three months in the provincial jail, which may account for the fact that drunks on the street are almost to be counted by the point of nonexistence.

You can walk right into a government liquor store here, buy two bottles and walk up the street with them unobserved. But you can't take a drink on the street or in a hotel, except in your own room when you are properly registered and have your personal effects with you.

That part of the law is strictly enforced. There is no surreptitious drinking at hotel tables.

Hits the Drunkard.
Section 42 of the liquor law says: "No person shall permit drunkenness to take place in any house or on any premises where he is the owner, tenant, or occupant; give any liquor to any person apparently under the influence of liquor; suffer or permit any person apparently under the influence of liquor to occupy any premises in which the first named is owner, tenant, or occupant."

And what they do to the boot-legalizer! Oh, yes, there are boot-legalizers even here. There were some large stocks left over when the present law went into effect last June, and the boys have been trying to get rid of them. The penalty for the first offense is six months in jail with the option of a fine. The second is a year or more. The man who buys liquor illegally is fined from $50 to $100 for the first offense, and serves time for his second.

The law is pretty well enforced. Incidentally the province is making about $25,000 a day net from its liquor sales.

OIL FIELD STRIKERS
PREVENT INVASIONS
BY NONUNION LABOR

"boiled" gang has become famous for breaking strikes throughout the West, especially street car strikes, to recruit men from San Francisco for work in the oil fields.

Forced to Turn Back.
A trainload of Jerome's workers were surprised by the strikers near Taft last Friday when their train, on a branch line, was derailed and the men forced to return to San Francisco by the strikers.

Since then, fearing a second invasion by "Black Jack," who has never shown himself daunted by obstacles or any kind of violence, the district has been thoroughly organized and is being completely patrolled.

The business men of the oil town of Taft have raised a strike benefit fund of $4,000 for use in "maintaining law and order." It has been turned over to the strikers' committee.

Other Workers Unmolested.
Curiously enough, approximately the same number of men, 5,000, are still at work in the oil fields, a large number of them—especially those employed by the Standard Oil Company—being non-union men.

They are not being molested by the strikers, who are union men working for the most part for independent companies or some of the larger groups of oil interests.

Without strong nerves you lose your magnetism, force and courage. You feel your own weakness and others know that you are weak. Trifling things annoy you—this is a sure sign of nerve exhaustion.

Some people are born with a very small amount of nerve-vital fluid, because their nerve force has been squandered by the lives led by their ancestors. Others use up their nerve force faster than the body can make it.

When your nerve force becomes weakened, all the vital organs of your body lose their normal strength and vigor and as a result, all kinds of alarming symptoms may appear. From the pains across the back, one person thinks he has kidney trouble; another may think his spine is injured because of the tender spots which may occur thereon. The dull heavy pain in the lower back, another may think he is going to have pressure from the disintegrating forces or pressure in the front of his head, another feels he is going to die from high blood pressure.

Sleeplessness and nervous irritability, heart palpitation and indigestion are very common symptoms. Naturally your strength, vigor, endurance and brain power are all greatly weakened, and in such a condition you are in no position to compete with the strong.

keen red-blooded man with nerves of steel. When you lack nerve force, there is only one thing that is going to help you—and that is more nerve force. In such cases mere stimulating medicine and narcotic drugs are often worse than useless; what you must have is something to furnish an increased supply of the nerve-vital fluid to your nerve cells. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product contains the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form which most nearly resembles that in the brain and nerve cells of man. It also contains organic iron like the iron in blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. This form of iron will not blacken the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people usually take. Nuxated Iron may therefore be termed both a blood and a nerve food as it feeds strength-giving iron to your blood and the principal chemical ingredient of active living nerve force.

Over four million people are using Nuxated Iron annually. From the remarkably beneficial results which it has produced, the manufacturers feel so certain of its efficacy that they guarantee satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. Beware of substitutes. Look for the word "Nuxated" on every package. Nuxated Iron for the blood and nerves is sold by all druggists.

CONTEST FOR FIRE CHIEF DEVELOPS AT ALEXANDRIA

Former Chief K.W. Ogden
Urged to Become a Candidate.

THE HERALD BUREAU.
A. S. Doniphan,
727 King Street.
ALEXANDRIA, Va., Sept. 19.—There may be a race for the office of fire chief at a meeting of the city council September 27, between Fire Chief Edward J. McDermott and Kenneth W. Ogden, former fire chief of the city. It was learned today. Friends of Ogden have requested him to run and it is understood that he is a receptive candidate.

Several months ago Ogden resigned as fire chief, and city council selected McDermott to fill the unexpired term, which ended September 1.

There will be a special meeting of city council tomorrow night to act on the two ordinances for the $300,000 bond issue. At the last meeting the old ordinance was repealed.

Sylvester A. Brown, president of the Cardinal Athletic Club, today celebrated his birthday. One of his most treasured gifts is an autographed photograph from Walter Johnson, Washington's famous pitcher.

The Ad Men's Club at a meeting tonight in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce mapped out plans for observance of Alexandria Day at the Fairfax County Fair September 23.

Horace Campbell, colored, blamed peach extract for his alleged assault upon his wife several days ago, when arraigned in Police Court today. The wife, he said, has gone to Atlanta, Ga., rather than appear against him. The court remanded the prisoner till she returns.

Six out of eight colored men taken in a craps game Saturday night forfeited their collars. The two who appeared were fined $5 each.

While engaged in pitching ball yesterday afternoon in a game between Falls Church and Del Ray teams at Del Ray, A. E. Patterson, of Idlewood, Va., sustained a fracture of his right arm. The injured member was reset by Dr. M. D. Delaney.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—In the Federal district court today a formal plea of not guilty was entered by fourteen corporations and forty-four individuals manufacturing and dealing in cement, to the indictment returned charging them with violation of the Sherman law through the stifling of competition, fixing of prices and other acts. The main defendant in the indictment is the Atlas Portland Cement Company.

After the entry of the pleas, the lawyers representing the defendants informed Judge Sheppard that they expected to move for bills of particulars so as to prepare defense for their clients. Judge Sheppard warned that the defendants should not feel assured that they will get off with fines merely, in event of conviction.

The forty-four individual defendants are under bail of $1,000 each.

CHAOS IN CHINA REAL PROBLEM OF CONFERENCE

Powers Must Find Way
To End Conflict of Two Regimes.

By ROBERT J. BENDISH.
China's dual government—the recognized regime established at Peking and the unrecognized authority centered at Canton—may afford the forthcoming Washington conference a guardianship problem second only to that in caring for the rights of Russia.

The Russian question has been solved by a decision among the powers, announced by the State Department yesterday, to establish a moral trusteeship in protection of the legitimate Russian interests. What will be the final course of the conference toward China if the two governing bodies now established there cannot co-operate to their common interests is a delicate and difficult question, a solution of which for the moment cannot be accurately forecast.

China Key to Problem.
Conditions in China, economic and political, are chaotic from the standpoint of the interested powers. China, at the same time, is the key to the whole Far Eastern problem. The Peking government, with a dubious hold on Chinese popular support, is nevertheless the only government recognized by those powers participating in the forthcoming conference.

Through it, such understandings as exist today among the powers have been made.

But the South China government, established at Canton, and not supported by some of the ablest Chinese statesmen, refuses to support acts already entered into by the Peking regime and warns that it will not bind itself, unreservedly, to abide by the settlements and decisions reached at the Washington conference.

Each Claims Popular Support.
Each government suspects the other. Each claims the support of a majority of the Chinese people. Meantime, confusion rules in China from the standpoint of political and economic discipline.

The situation, it is admitted by authorities here, must be cleared up and the Chinese people must be brought to the point of view in Washington. The State Department has conveyed the pointed hint to the Peking government that "all factions" in China should be represented at the forthcoming conference.

No sooner was this suggestion made, however, than the South China Republic laments that it does not wish joint representation with the Peking government, but representation of its own, creating recognition of its established government.

Will Not Gain Recognition.
The view of the United States government on this proposal is that the South China Republic would seem to wish, by such a maneuver, to have the Chinese problem settled in advance of the conference through its recognition by the United States.

This it may be stated, is regarded here as impossible. The United States will not recognize the Canton government before the conference, because to do so would merely add to the confusion already existing here.

China's Affairs Already in. It would entail the rupture of such agreements and understandings as now exist between the Peking government and the United States, which are all the agreements that do exist, and it would also place the other powers interested in China in an absurdly complicated situation.

Nor will the United States invite the South China government to the Far Eastern conference. If it is represented at all—and this government hopes it will be—it must be represented jointly with the Peking government on the Chinese delegation. Then, at the conference, measures will be possible for straightening out the tangle.

Real Estate Owners
Appeal from Award

Instead of accepting the award as fixed August 15 by the commission of appraisers, four of the twelve owners of real estate in the neighborhood of the Walter Reed Hospital, which is needed by the government for the extension of the hospital grounds, have elected to have a jury of seven taxpayers fix the value of their holdings. By law they are entitled to that method if they prefer.

The objectors, who are represented by Attorney Louis Ottenberg, are: Nathan S. Fawcett, William E. Davis, Selbie D. Grove and G. W. Bonnet.
